About Author

"Firstly, Author finds it really weird to write about himself, and there is absolutely nothing that Author wants to share or author finds worth sharing about himself, but since Author firmly believes in the right of people to know who they just finished reading, Author will try to give all his secrets away by referring to himself as an author (please bear with the Author).

Author would like to skip the generic parts like author's name, which is obviously written on the cover (if you cared enough to read or doing it rn), author's location as that hardly makes a difference, or how author is also an engineer but to your surprise author is employed and "engineer doing engineering things engineer" and that brings to author's writing journey, well author tends to write a lot but this will be author's first work out for everyone cuz author feels author's other works are too precious and must be kept in pristine glory of being an unshared experience and just the glimpse of his literary house should be taken out. s

Interesting facts about the author: Well, in this section, author will try to put "wow" and "not at all wow facts" about him just to make it interesting. Author would like his reader to figure out which one is wow and which is not, or if the whole thing is BS, and this section is of no particular relevance and should've been skipped like the book itself. Anyway, since it's too late for all of it, the author will complete this section:

1. Author can locate all the countries on the world map, including Vanuatu and Wallis Futana, which the author tends to forget, like Aruba and Guernsey, but to answer the question, have I been to any? Author would like to make it clear: "No," he only loves em on maps. Boundaries, Period.

2. Author is not on any form of social media, and unlike the most productive people on planets, Author has no solid justification for being so.

3. Author carries a bar phone all the time, which kinda partially explains the second point about him.

4. Author has a weird obsession about North Korea, penguins, and cactus because of it author has spent countless hours reading, watching, listening, and researching about them, which of course means he missed out on a lot of things like TV series, movies, dating, and meeting family and friends, but in author's opinion it was totally worth it. As they say in Madagascar, "Life is too short; make sure you watch them pengos"

5. Author has selected few people in every department of the performing arts just so Author doesn't waste time searching for anything new, but rather keeps watching those few on loop!

6. So far, the author has used the word "author," including the two used in this sentence, 36 times, which is the author's personal best of using the word "author" anywhere. Oops! It just got 38.

7. No, the author didn't count the words, Author, and instead he used his laziness and a google search "word frequency counter," and since you guys are also too lazy to count, I can safely say that website is pretty accurate.

8. Author would appreciate feedbacks at
